

2016 TOYOTA AFL GRAND FINAL TICKETS

1. AFL GRAND FINAL TICKET ALLOCATION

The capacity of the MCG will be approximately 100,000 on Grand Final Day.

In answer to Guidelines (a), (b) and (c), the AFL proposes that tickets to the 2016 AFL Grand Final, be allocated in approximately the following manner:

1. Competing Club Members	16000 - 35000
2. AFL Clubs (18)	0 – 10,000
3. MCC Reserve	16000 - 26000
4. AFL Members	13000 - 23000
5. AFL/Medallion Club Members	4500 - 5000
6. AFL Entitlements/Contractual Obligations	5000 - 30000
7. Competing Clubs	0 - 5000
Total	100,000 (approx)

However we note that the fact that:

1. the configuration of the ground may change which could affect the split of tickets between AFL Members, MCC Reserve and Competing Club Members;
2. the number of standing room tickets to be made available will vary depending upon a variety of issues;
3. a substantial number of “walk ups” (50%) in the MCC Reserve;

There may be other functions which affect corporate/function spaces and /or AFL entitlements, resulting in variations to the proposed allocation of tickets between now and 1 October 2016.

2. AFL GRAND FINAL TICKET RETURNS POLICY

The policy/guidelines to be followed by the AFL will be as follows. Please note that this policy is not applicable to ticket holders who have procured a 2016 Toyota AFL Grand Final ticket in the Melbourne Cricket Club members' enclosure:

- General policy – tickets are not refundable.
- Exceptions are made however, if the ticket holder can demonstrate that they have a legitimate justification for wishing to return a ticket (eg. medical reason, death in the family etc).
- In these circumstances, the AFL may require that the ticket holder produce supporting evidence of his/her incapacity (eg. Medical certificate).
- If the AFL is reasonably satisfied that the ticket holder has a legitimate justification for wishing to return a ticket, then the AFL will refund the full price of the ticket to the ticket holder.
- Supporting evidence will always be requested should the AFL suspect that a ticket holder is actually a scalper who, for one reason or another, has been unable to on-sell the tickets at a premium.
