FINANCIAL REPORT

RAY GUNSTON CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER

The AFL's net surplus of $2.5 million was on budget and all revenue streams have increased on last year's results.

AFL CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL RESULTS

The AFL recorded a net surplus of $2.5 million for the 2015 financial year. The result, while down on 2014, was on budget. Pleasingly, all revenue streams were up on last year. Increases in distributions to clubs and the AFL Players' Association were the main factors to the overall result being down on 2014

The consolidated result, which includes all of the AFL's controlled state subsidiaries, produced a net surplus of $3.6 million. All state subsidiaries, except for AFL Northern Territory, recorded operating surpluses. AFLNT utilised its retained earnings to assist with the funding of the Michael Long Life Learning Centre. →

AFL CLUBS' FINANCIAL RESULTS

The profitability of the 18 clubs continues to be a strong focus for the AFL with aggregated 18-club profitability increasing in 2015, albeit with eight clubs reporting operating profits and the remainder reporting operating losses. This compares unfavourably with 10 clubs reporting operating profits in 2014.

The financial impact of declining on-field performance and off-field issues were significant challenges for some clubs which, through reduced revenue generation and increased costs, reduced profitability accordingly.

However, the AFL was pleased to see clubs such as Melbourne, North Melbourne, Port Adelaide and the Western Bulldogs continue to capitalise on their improved on-field performance and financial management to report operating profits in 2015.

The profitability of clubs is impacted at the structural level by commercial arrangements at stadia and the financial impact of the fixture, in addition to investment in non-core revenue generating businesses. Other drivers, such as the size of the active fan base of the club and on-field performance also affect revenue generation and can vary by season. Accordingly, these contributing factors necessitate the need for the AFL to intervene and introduce policy to manage these inequities.

Two equalisation measures were implemented at the start of 2015 to begin to address the financial inequality between clubs.

The first equalisation measure was a revenue-based lever to transfer revenues from the top 10 clubs to the remainder of the competition. The second equalisation measure was a cost-based lever that prescribed a "soft cap" on non-player football department expenditure with a tax paid by clubs should they exceed this amount.

These competitive balance levers were announced to clubs in 2014 and apply for the 2015 and 2016 seasons only, with a more comprehensive and dynamic competitive balance policy to be developed over this period for introduction in 2017.

The AFL is dedicated to a competition with 18 financially strong clubs, who all make comparable investments in football department expenditure to ensure an exciting and equal on-field contest.

FINANCIAL OPERATIONS

The AFL is continuously striving to add value across the AFL industry by centralising support services, investing in technology and implementing leading solutions and programs.

The AFL continued to invest in the development of its Risk Management and Insurance programs, resulting in an increase of standards for all 18 clubs. At a community level, the programs have delivered a level of cover for serious injuries such as quadriplegia and paraplegia of up to $1 million. This is double the 2014 level of cover.

The centralised services and solutions provided by the AFL to the industry also include accounting, information technology and procurement. State football bodies and the clubs have access to these services and have benefited through the adoption of these services and technologies. These include payroll services, sponsorship and events systems and travel and accommodation arrangements.

The annual Club Financial Review was completed, providing valuable benchmarking data and trend analysis for the AFL and the clubs. In addition to the collection of annual data, the AFL in recent years has focused on the collection of longer-term forecast information to assist with strategy and planning for the industry.

PAYMENTS TO AFL CLUBS

The AFL makes a number of distributions and payments to AFL clubs. These payments included the following in 2015:

- → A base distribution to all clubs which totalled $142.0 million, an increase of $6.8 million.
- → A bonus distribution of $1.2 million to all clubs from the broadcast rights proceeds.
- Other payments to clubs included equal and disequal financial assistance, prize money, distribution of the AFL's signage rights at Etihad Stadium and promotional funding to help clubs develop the game around Australia.

OUTLOOK

With the media rights arrangements for 2017-22 having been finalised in August 2015, work is progressing on the AFL industry's future funding model. A long-term investment-based funding model that looks beyond the six-year media rights payment arrangements will be worked through with industry participants throughout 2016. This model will be designed to put in place a sustainable industry funding framework based on a rightsized cost base for the industry while providing the capacity to also have available funding for long-term investment requirements.
