The AFL's Game and Market Development Team is responsible for growing and developing Australian Football and striving to ensure our sport is a way of life for every community.

In 2015, the AFL initiated a comprehensive review of Australian Football in the community to identify key areas of need for future investment and a future vision for success. The ‘Future Directions of Australian Football’ project consulted a broad range of volunteers, administrators and leaders across AFL clubs, state and territory bodies, community leagues and clubs, schools and other subject matter experts. The report outlines recommendations for the short, medium and long term, with the objective of ensuring Australian Football is representative and inclusive, well supported and sustainable, has strong links between community and elite competitions and is a national code responsive to local needs with first-class competitions at every level.

Along with the review, 2015 also saw a restructure of the Game and Market Development Department with Simon Lethlean transitioning from the General Manager of Broadcasting, Scheduling and Major Projects portfolio to lead this area of the business.

TRUE Grit
Geelong captain Joel Selwood again led from the front in a challenging season for the Cats, who missed the Finals for the first time since 2006.

SCHOOLS

A critical component of our participant engagement strategy is to enhance our presence in primary and secondary schools across Australia to provide opportunities for all students wishing to participate in Australian Football.

The continued growth in Australian Football participation has been due to a number of initiatives, programs and resources designed specifically to improve our presence in the classroom and the school physical education/sport program. A total of 706,285 students participated in either inter-school competitions or school-based programs greater than six weeks in duration – an overall increase of 13 per cent.

INTER-SCHOOL PRIMARY AND SECONDARY SCHOOL COMPETITIONS (MALE & FEMALE)

In 2015, there were 10,399 inter-school teams in AFL competitions that involved some 231,080 students. The table right shows a selection of winners of various school competitions in 2015.

COACHING DEVELOPMENT

The 2015 AFL Census shows that about 27,000 coaches delivered football programs to participants in all segments of the game in 2015.

ACREDITATION COURSES

Attendance at AFL coach accreditation courses continues to ensure there is an adequate supply of accredited coaches to meet needs and support growth of the game. In 2015, more than 7000 coaches participated in courses – 6964 at Level 1, 304 at Level 2 and 26 at Level 3.

Since 2001, the AFL, in partnership with the AFL Players’ Association, has been conducting a specific Level 2 Coaching Course for experienced and recently retired players who are interested in coaching. Many of these players complete their accreditation and go on to develop as assistant coaching roles in AFL and state league clubs and a few, after also completing their AFL High Performance Coach Accreditation, have filtered through to become AFL senior coaches in recent years. The 2015 course was conducted in Melbourne in January for 28 current players and coaches.

The AFL High Performance Coaching Course was reviewed during the year with industry partners, including the state coaching managers, the AFL Coaches’ Association and AFL clubs. Changes to the structure, content and delivery were made in accordance with industry recommendations. The course is now delivered through two separate face-to-face segments of four and two days, online content, workplace learning and coach mentoring. The first segment of the 2015-16 course was conducted for 25 invited coaches at Etihad Stadium in October, with the second segment planned for January 2016.

AFL ONLINE COACHING COURSES

There has been outstanding usage of the AFL Online Junior and the newly developed AFL Online Youth and Senior Coaching Courses in 2015, with 5000 coaches completing the courses throughout the year. These courses are integral parts of the AFL Level 1 coach accreditation programs.

INTERNATIONAL COURSES

AFL international affiliates continued to be active in coach development in 2015, with a number of courses conducted in other countries, including Fiji, Europe and the USA. The Fiji course, part of regular AFL development activity in the South Pacific, produced 30 accredited coaches. USAFL president and coaching director Dennis Ryan conducted the first US Level 2 course through a series of Google webinars over six weekly sessions. Ten coaches completed their Level 2 accreditation in this course. AFL Europe is also in the process of conducting a Level 1 course, which started with a seminar provided by visiting members of the AFLCA in London in October – these coaches will continue their learning through the AFL online courses and will complete their practical components during the AFL UK pre-season period.

CLUB COACHING COORDINATOR PROGRAM

The role of the club coaching coordinator is growing in importance to ensuring football at all levels is delivered with improved quality, inclusive environments. Following the implementation of the Club Coaching Coordinator Program in late 2014 and distribution of the associated resources, a number of courses were conducted in 2015 in different states. This program has been established to enhance the development of coaches at community league and club level and provide them with elements of on-going support.

TALENT IDENTIFICATION COURSES

The AFL Level 1 course in identifying Talent for AFL, was reviewed in 2015 and will be delivered in all states in 2016. The continuing development of female football in culturally diverse communities is providing a rich pool for attracting players and identifying talent in the game.

AFL NATIONAL COACHING CONFERENCE

The 2015 AFL National Coaching Conference (13th edition) was conducted at Etihad Stadium from January 31 to February 2 and featured a keynote address from Hawthorn coach Alastair Clarkson. Other presenters at the conference, which attracted more than 400 coaches, were Leigh Russell, Brendan Bolton, Louise Burke, Shane Pill, Matt Jones, Mark Yeatsca-Paulson and David Parkin.

Thirty-two breakout sessions on a wide range of football and coaching topics were delivered across the weekend. The 2016 edition of the conference will be conducted in Perth in February 2016.

COACHING SUPPORT, RESOURCES & AFL COMMUNITY WEBSITE

Ongoing post-accreditation support for accredited coaches is provided through the coaching section of the AFL Community Website.
New articles and practice activities are regularly published and promoted through the fortnightly AFL Community newsletters sent to more than 60,000 recipients. This continues to be a relevant source of coaching information for coaches at all levels.

INJURY PREVENTION RESOURCES
An important set of injury prevention and management resources were produced in 2015, including incorporation of the key guidelines for the management of concussion in community football into the AFL coaching manuals and regularly promoted to community football organisations and clubs.

Following the completion of a research project through the AFL Research Board (the Footy First Training Program to Prevent Leg Injuries), that project will now be promoted throughout 2016.

These prevention programs and related resources will be prominently promoted in AFL coaching courses in future seasons. As well as being incorporated into the AFL coaching manuals, these resources are available for download from the AFL Community website or in hard copy from AFL and state affiliate offices.

OTHER HIGHLIGHTS

The game was showcased to more than 800,000 people at half-time of one match each round throughout the 2015 Toyota AFL Premiership Season. Ex-Swans player Jude Bolton and his wife Lynette continued to fulfill roles as national program ambassadors to help raise greater awareness and exposure of the game.

AFL ACTIVE
AFL Active is a group training program that is broken into four quarters of physical activity where participants train for some of the physical attributes required to play Australian Football. However, the activities do not require any kicking, marking or handballing.

In 2015, the AFL and AFL Victoria partnered with VicHealth’s Changing the Game, Increasing Female Participation in Sport initiative to use the AFL Active program to create new opportunities for female participation in physical activity across Victoria. This was launched in August at the 2015 AFL women’s exhibition match and television presenter Rebecca Maddern was named an AFL Active ambassador.

AFL Active also partnered with the Victorian Fitness Academy to recruit and run training sessions for accredited AFL Active trainers, with 42 now accredited and courses planned for 2016.

The year also marked 100 years since females first played Australian Football. It was established through independent research that teams in Perth first played matches as charity fundraisers during World War I. The first recorded women’s league was established soon after in Kalgoorlie in 1921.

To mark this historic occasion, memorabilia was collected by a dedicated group of volunteers and was displayed in the Battye Library of Western Australia for three months. Titled ‘Bouncedown’, it presented a unique story, in addition, the National Sports Museum at the MCG provided two ‘pop up’ displays to celebrate the centenary.

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

INDIGENOUS

INDIGENOUS ROUND & DREAMTIME AT THE ‘G

Indigenous culture and the contribution of Indigenous players are celebrated annually during the AFL’s Indigenous Round.

The round was launched in Sydney and featured all 18 AFL clubs wearing jumpers with special Indigenous designs. The AFL and the 18 clubs continued their partnership with Reconciliation to promote the campaign to recognise Indigenous Australians in the Constitution.

The focal point of the round was again the Dreamtime at the ‘G game between Essendon and Richmond.

The championships held in Darwin included education sessions on topics such as pathway to excellence and identity. Twenty-five of the best-performing participants will represent the Woomeras team in the Youth Girls National Championships in May 2016.

WOOERAS

The AFL Woomeras Program is a national female Indigenous development program. The program symbolises strength and power – launching the girls into their futures using football to engage and empower. The Woomeras competed for the second time in the 2015 Youth Girls National Championships and toured New Zealand in December. The program enables the participants to be in an environment where they can work on their football skills, personal development and leadership skills.

INDIGENOUS COACHING ACADEMY

The AFL, in conjunction with the AFL Coaches Association, developed an Indigenous Coaching Academy in 2014 to fast-track and further develop Indigenous coaches in the AFL system. In 2015, the academy featured 15 Indigenous coaches who were engaged in education sessions delivered by the AFLCA at the KickStart Championships and the NAB AFL Under-16 Championships respectively. Participants completed Level 2 coaching accreditation and spent a week at an AFL club.

NATIONAL KICKSTART CHAMPIONSHIPS

The National KickStart Championships were held in Cairns in April with more than 150 under-15 Indigenous players representing their state or territory in a five-day football carnival.

Each team selected the best 25 Indigenous players from their state or territory camps based on football ability, leadership qualities, school attendance and community involvement.

Players also participated in off-field engagement and educational sessions focused on topics such as identity, pathway to excellence and reaching individual and team goals.

The KickStart Championships are also the pathway to the Flying Boomerangs.

FLYING BOOMERANGS LEADERSHIP PROGRAM

At the end of the annual AFL KickStart Championships, 25 Indigenous players were selected to participate in the Flying Boomerangs Leadership Program.

The Boomerangs program is focused on four key pillars – communication, resilience, decision-making and identity.

The program also provides exposure to an elite training environment and leadership skills. The Boomerangs participated in the NAB AFL Under-16 Championships, competing against the World Team in a two-game series.

The squad came together in November for a high-performance training and leadership camp in Victoria where they visited the St Kilda and Collingwood football clubs, HMAS Cerberus and played a game against the Victorian Multicultural All Stars.

RID TINTO FOOTY MEANS BUSINESS

In partnership with Rio Tinto, the AFL recruits 50 young Indigenous men aged 18 to 24 from all over Australia each year to participate in an employment and talent program. The squad came together in Perth in February and Melbourne in May, to coincide with Indigenous Round.

During the program, participants were exposed to the routine of a professional AFL player, including high-performance testing, training and conditioning. The young men are also introduced to potential career opportunities with Rio Tinto and other AFL corporate partners.

NATIONAL FEMALE KICKSTART

In 2015, the National Female KickStart Championships engaged more than 100 Indigenous females aged 14 to 16 from across the country.

The championships held in Darwin included education sessions on topics such as pathway to excellence and identity. Twenty-five of the best-performing participants will represent the Woomeras team in the Youth Girls National Championships in May 2016.

COMMUNITY PARTNERS

COMMUNITY PARTNERS

COMMITMENT TO COMMUNITY

The AFL can make a significant positive change to the lives of individuals and to the strength of our communities. As Australia’s No. 1 sport, we care about our connection with people and communities, and we have a responsibility to deliver positive social outcomes back to the communities in which we operate.

RECOGNISE

The 2015 Toyota AFL premiership season marked 20 years since the AFL declared there was no place for racism in football and the League adopted its own racial vilification code.

Two decades later, the League is now part of the movement of Australians who say there is no place for race discrimination in the nation’s rule book either and who know it’s time to recognise the First Australians.

The AFL is proud to have an ongoing partnership with the Recognise campaign, which supports and focuses on the push to recognise Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples in Australia’s constitution and to ensure there’s no place for racial discrimination in it.

In Indigenous Round, held during National Reconciliation Week, the AFL celebrated the contributions and sheer excellence of our country’s Indigenous players and Australia’s Indigenous heritage.

We recalled the outstanding Indigenous players of the past who were trailblazers and recognised the brilliance, talent and skill of the current generation of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander players.

The campaign’s R symbol was painted in the middle of each AFL venue during Indigenous Round. Sydney Swans star and former Australian of the Year Adam Goodes and Charlie Kernot played it in the lead-up to and during Indigenous Round.

The AFL’s support led to a significant boost in awareness of the campaign, with more than 14,400 Australians signing up as supporters.

AFL SPORTSREADY

Now in its 21st year of operation, AFL SportsReady continues to support the development needs of AFL players and the industry’s entry level employment requirements. The organisation continues to expand its footprint across the country with record numbers of trainees and students.

In 2014-15, AFL SportsReady worked with the AFL industry to provide 245 traineeships to young Australian, whether they be full-time, part-time or school-based. This includes the provision of trainees to state leagues and AFL clubs.

Eight current and former AFL SportsReady trainees were selected for the 2015 National Women’s Exhibition Clash and five trainees were selected in the 2015 NAB AFL Draft.

AFL SportsReady continues to provide player education with players such as Patrick Dangerfield, Scott Pendlebury and Marcus Bontempelli studying a diploma of management. In total, more than 250 players from all 10 AFL clubs have studied with SportsReady.

SportsReady continues to assist with the AFL’s Football Induction Program and Next Goal programs.

AFL SportsReady has developed and delivered an entire suite of new services to meet the needs of the AFL industry – including players, coaches, umpires and football administrators at the elite level through to coaches, volunteers and players at the state league and junior levels.

Programs are developed and provided via partnerships between AFL SportsReady and the AFL or the AFL Players Association to ensure tailored, relevant programs that will benefit players and the industry and grow the game.

Aside from the AFL industry, AFL SportsReady continues to assist with education and employment outside of football, with almost 700 young people supported into traineeships in 2015. More than one third of these trainees are Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander young people.

AFL SportsReady works closely with employers to deliver traineeships, with partners including NAB, ANZ, Westpac, CBA, Australia Post, Telstra, the AFL, AFL clubs and associations and schools. Through ArtsReady, and supported by the Australian Government, traineeships are now being provided through arts and creative organisations such as the Australian Ballet, Regional Arts NSW and the National Gallery of Victoria.

Now, as a provider of education, AFL SportReady offers trainees certificate and diploma courses which have a focus on sport and recreation, fitness, business and management. In 2015, more than 1000 students started with SportReady Education.

AFL SportsReady has partnerships with universities in every state. (La Trobe University, Griffith University, the University of Technology Sydney, University of Canberra, Curtin University, Flinders University and the University of Tasmania). These partnerships give SportReady Education students who complete a Certificate IV or diploma qualification an opportunity to gain direct entry and in some cases a credit towards a degree.

In 2015, AFL SportsReady released its first Reconciliation Action Plan creating leaders for cultural change, awareness and respect, along with a number of initiatives to help Close the Gap. AFL SportReady provides opportunities and support to help Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander young people to overcome barriers through the delivery of tailored educational programs, employment opportunities, mentoring, gatherings and cultural awareness training.

LADDER

The AFL continued to support Ladder, which was established in conjunction with the AFL Players’ Association in 2007 to tackle youth homelessness.

Ladder believes a young person’s experience with homelessness should not define their life, a belief that is also supported by the AFL. Ladder works with young people who have experienced homelessness to help them break the cycle of homelessness and reach their potential.

GAME AND MARKET DEVELOPMENT

STANDING PROUD

Sydney Swans stars Adam Goodes and Lance Franklin featured in a television commercial for the Recognise campaign.
Every player participating in an AFL home and away match donates $25 of his match fee to Ladder. This year these donations raised more than $270,000 and the AFL made a matching donation, resulting in a total contribution of more than $382,000.

In the past financial year, Ladder provided around 6800 hours of direct service to young people, including health, wellbeing and fitness sessions, skills training, mentoring and one-on-one support.

Past and present AFL footballers are involved as volunteers, ambassadors and mentors, which provides young people with guidance, support and encouragement to find a way out of the debilitating cycle of homelessness. Ladder is also the official charity partner of the Toyota AFL Finals Series.

Our Watch

Our Watch was established to drive nation-wide change in the culture, behaviours and attitudes that lead to violence against women within our organisation and across our affiliated members, partners and the broader community.

The AFL is committed to supporting Our Watch and using football as a vehicle to address gender inequality, sexism and cultures that trivialise and support violence against women and children.

Reach - Jim Stynes Scholarship Fund

The AFL and the Reach Foundation together established the Jim Stynes Scholarship Fund in 2011 in honour of former Melbourne president and Brownlow medallist, the late Jim Stynes.

As part of a partnership with the AFL, the Federal Government has provided $3 million to establish the scholarship fund to help disadvantaged people pursue their sporting dreams and reach their potential.

The scholarships recognise Stynes’ contribution as an outstanding footballer, administrator, philanthropist, charity worker and writer.

In 2015, the AFL and Reach awarded 37 scholarships with a value of up to $20,000. Number 37 was Stynes’ original number when he joined Melbourne.

Recipients received funding towards football, travel and education expenses.

Commitment to Diversity

The AFL’s aim is to be truly national and truly representative, and part of this commitment is to be a workplace and code that is a welcoming environment regardless of race, gender, sexuality, religion or culture.

To this end, the AFL has committed to a range of initiatives to develop a welcoming environment for LGBTI athletes, administrators, coaches and spectators.

In 2015, the AFL was involved in the following initiatives:

- Supported the AFLPA in the IDAHOT campaign.
- Supported and helped publicise a Pride match in the Yarra Valley Mountain District Football League between Yarra Glenn and Warburton.
- Announced the first AFL Pride match during the 2016 home and away season will be played between St Kilda and the Sydney Swans.

- It will be used as a benchmarking tool to measure LGBTI diversity and inclusion within national sporting organisations.

Support for Clubs and Partners

The AFL also offers support to the programs and commitments of our clubs and partners.

Highlights in 2015 included the Big Freeze at the ‘G, supported by the AFL and broadcasters, to help increase awareness about Motor Neurone Disease, and raise more than $2.2 million for research.

The AFL also supported the Breast Cancer Network of Australia game, and the White Ribbon Cup, hosted by our clubs.

For the first time, the AFL also supported the Children’s Cancer Foundation Million Dollar Lunch at Crown, which delivered an incredible $2 million in funding for research into children’s cancer.

Reach - Jim Stynes Scholarship Fund

The AFL and the Reach Foundation together established the Jim Stynes Scholarship Fund in 2011 in honour of former Melbourne president and Brownlow medallist, the late Jim Stynes.

As part of a partnership with the AFL, the Federal Government has provided $3 million to establish the scholarship fund to help disadvantaged people pursue their sporting dreams and reach their potential.

The scholarships recognise Stynes’ contribution as an outstanding footballer, administrator, philanthropist, charity worker and writer.

In 2015, the AFL and Reach awarded 37 scholarships with a value of up to $20,000. Number 37 was Stynes’ original number when he joined Melbourne.

Recipients received funding towards football, travel and education expenses.

Commitment to Diversity

The AFL’s aim is to be truly national and truly representative, and part of this commitment is to be a workplace and code that is a welcoming environment regardless of race, gender, sexuality, religion or culture.

To this end, the AFL has committed to a range of initiatives to develop a welcoming environment for LGBTI athletes, administrators, coaches and spectators.

In 2015, the AFL was involved in the following initiatives:

- The AFL joined three other national football codes on a float in the Sydney Mardi Gras Parade.
- Hosted a Pride match during the NAB Challenge between the Sydney Swans and Fremantle at Drummoyne Oval.
- Supported the launch of Essendon’s Purple Bombers supporter group.
- The role of the Advisory Group is to assist with the development and implementation of the Pride in Sport Index.
- The Index is a joint initiative of Pride in Diversity, a not-for-profit workplace diversity support organisation; the Australian Human Rights Commission, the Australian Sports Commission and the Bingham Cup.
- It will be used as a benchmarking tool to measure LGBTI diversity and inclusion within national sporting organisations.

Support for Clubs and Partners

The AFL also offers support to the programs and commitments of our clubs and partners.

Highlights in 2015 included the Big Freeze at the ‘G, supported by the AFL and broadcasters, to help increase awareness about Motor Neurone Disease, and raise more than $2.2 million for research.

The AFL also supported the Breast Cancer Network of Australia game, and the White Ribbon Cup, hosted by our clubs.

For the first time, the AFL also supported the Children’s Cancer Foundation Million Dollar Lunch at Crown, which delivered an incredible $2 million in funding for research into children’s cancer.
