The Premiership Quarter

THERE COMES a time in the life of (hopefully) every football club, where everything lines up, and all the planning, preparation and vision will come together and provide a view of what is so aptly phrased – “the window of opportunity”. It is so named because the opening is often narrow, certainly the time frame is limited, and only the quick and well prepared are able to take advantage of the moment.

Often that comes within a game of football, and it is the third quarter of a critical game that is universally referred to as “the premiership quarter”, where the window of opportunity opens and the team that takes the initiative is most often the one that is the ultimate winner.

Taking a somewhat broader viewpoint and looking across the whole spectrum of the performance of the Fremantle Football Club, as it enters phase two of its strategic planning, I firmly believe that the club is about to enter the “Premiership Quarter” of its development as a football club and performer. All of the planning on and off field, all of the intense scrutiny of the playing list over the previous seasons, all of the investment in human resources and equipment, and all of the vision and dreams, envelops the football club as the whole club proceeds toward the “window of opportunity” that presents itself to only those clubs that are fortunate enough to have put things together in sufficient enough form to warrant being presented with the chance. Fremantle Football Club enters that phase, in my view, in season 2006.

We have as a club promised much, have disappointed somewhat in the last two seasons, but are nevertheless well placed to go forward with renewed energy and enthusiasm to provide our club, and consequently our loyal and passionate supporters, with an opportunity to become regular and competitive finals participants. And with that onward and inexorable charge comes the opportunity to compete for what every person involved with this club wants more than anything, and that is the opportunity to one day win an AFL Premiership.

There are genuine signs that Fremantle will realise the potential that we all know has existed over recent seasons. The experience that this playing group has now accumulated will stand them in great stead as many of those players enter the prime period of their playing careers. I'm sure we will see excitement and talent in season 2006 and beyond, and that we will ultimately reward our loyal and passionate supporters. It will reward also the effort that has gone into producing a group that will be capable of grabbing the opportunities as they present in the future, and as the club becomes a competitive force, it will cement the Fremantle Football Club as one of the powers in the AFL competition.

But none of that will come easily. This AFL competition is the toughest sporting competition in world sport. No one will step aside and let Fremantle have its moment in the sun. Everything that you get in this competition you will work for, there is no quarter given and no quarter asked for.

For Fremantle Football Club – we will now prepare to enter our “Premiership Quarter” – it will ultimately be up to us how we accept the challenge.

I'm looking forward to an exciting and rewarding season in 2006 and I wish all associated with this great football club a wonderful and fruitful year in footy!

Coca-Cola Zero is the proud sponsor of this year's Player of the Week on fremantlefc.com.au.

Register now and vote for the player you think was Fremantle's best after each weekend's game. Voting will take place on a 3-2-1 basis, with 3 votes being for the player you think was Fremantle's best. Voting will remain open until Thursday following each game, and the player attracting the most votes will be awarded the Player of the Week.

At the end of the home and away season, the player with the most votes will be the Coca-Cola Zero Player of The Year and will be announced at an exclusive function at the Fremantle Football Club headquarters at Fremantle Oval by Coca-Cola Amatil's WA General Manager, Mr James Lane.

One lucky registered voter in the Coca-Cola Zero Player of the Week will be selected at random each week to win a Coca-Cola Zero/Fremantle Supporter Pack valued at over $200.

Fremantle Fan's fine art

WELL KNOWN television reporter and passionate Fremantle member Alison Fan is adding another string to her bow by trying her hand at painting, all in the name of charity. Fan is making a masterpiece of star forward Luke McPharlin's 'Mark of the Year' last year to be auctioned at a gala black-tie dinner in May with proceeds going to the Princess Margaret Foundation.

Helped along by amateur artist and husband Duncan MacLaurin, Fan chose McPharlin's 'Mark of the Year' as the subject as the image is not widely available and Duncan was also one of Luke's teachers at Christ Church Grammar School.

Fan and MacLaurin have been working on the painting since February and so far she is very pleased with the results.

The charity art event being run by Tristan's Art Gallery will be held on 13 May at the Perth Convention Centre and with the art work already creating some interest the painting will have a reserve price for the auction.

Life's Good

In November last year the club proudly announced that LG Electronics will be the club's Major Sponsor for the next three years.

FREMANTLE CHIEF Executive Officer Cameron Schwab said there can be no better way to build upon the club's recent achievements than with the support of one of Australia's, and the world's, leading companies.

"We are honoured and proud that LG Electronics has joined as our major sponsor for the next three years and during this period of Fremantle's growth, will share in what will be an exciting time of the club's development," Cameron Schwab said.

"Since our inception into the AFL our club has become one of the exciting brands within the national competition.

"From the colour purple and the anchor through to the passion of our supporters, our club sets itself apart from all others and is a unique brand within the AFL.

"We have an exciting player group that has been built and developed over the last three years.

"We expect to make the finals in 2006 and with LG's support we are confident of fulfilling this goal for our club, members and supporters," said Mr Schwab.

LG Electronics General Manager of Marketing, Mr Paul Jenkins said that, like Fremantle, LG has grown its presence in the Australian market in a short period of time to be amongst Australia's most successful and recognised brands.

"LG Electronics is thrilled to be on board as the Major Sponsor of Fremantle, who have proven to be a formidable force in one of Australia's leading, elite sporting competitions.

"Both LG and Fremantle share a heritage of rapid growth and success in Australia, and we are proud to support a sporting institution built on the foundations of family values, community and high achievement.

"LG is committed to supporting and promoting the sporting culture and to providing Australians with a memorable and enjoyable sporting experience.

"That is why our association with Fremantle represents a very good fit for LG, and we look forward to building a long and sustainable partnership with the club," Mr Jenkins said.

LG Electronics was founded in 1958 and as the pioneer consumer electronics company of South Korea it developed the first Korean radio receiver. Today LG Electronics is a world-class organisation with more than 64,000 employees, working in 72 subsidiaries around the world, marketing products in more than 180 countries.

The LG Electronics brand was launched in Australia in 1997 and with an innovative product range, supported by extensive marketing campaigns, has led to strong sales growth and branch offices in New South Wales, Victoria, Queensland, South Australia and Western Australia. In line with its global philosophy, LG Electronics Australia sets new benchmarks in digital and marketing innovation.

A platform of marketing success in Australia has been the slogan 'LG, Lifes Good'.

The slogan has cemented the company in the hearts and minds of Australian consumers and successfully communicates LG's underlying goal and vision – to create innovative products that enrich lives enabling them to have more personal time.

LG will support the 'Docker For A Day' promotion at all interstate venues giving the opportunity for a junior member to lead the team onto the ground at each interstate game and will offer members exclusive offers through the Members Rewards programme. Please see page 33 for LG's Member Rewards offers for edition one of Docker.

At this season's opening home game against Carlton on Saturday 8 April there will be a number of promotions before, during and after the game to welcome LG on board. Keep an eye on the club's website for all the details.

Visit www.lge.com.au to see the extensive range of products on offer including Home Network Appliances, Refrigerators/Freezers, Washing Machines, Dishwashers, Vacuum Cleaners, Air Conditioners, Microwaves, Plasma Display Panels, LCD Televisions, CRT Televisions, Rear Projection Televisions, Home Theatre, VCR and DVD players and DVD Recorders, Audio Systems, LCD and CRT Computer Monitors, Notebooks, CD-ROM and, CD Rewritable Drives, DVD Rewriters, Cooking Range and Mobile Phones. ☐

Theatrical Launch

Centre stage at His Majesty's Theatre was the setting on 15 November last year for the announcement that LG Electronics would be the club's new Major Sponsor for the next three years.

NBA Star Number One

THE CLUB welcomed former NBA star Luc Longley as the club's number one Ticket Holder for the 2006 and 2007 seasons in what club President Rick Hart described as a terrific appointment for the club.

"Luc is not only an outstanding sportsman having achieved the very best in his sport but he is an outstanding person and a proud and loyal Fremantle supporter," Mr Hart said.

"Luc has been with Fremantle since the very beginning and has continued his support ever since.

"We are delighted to have someone of his standing to be our number one ticket holder, its good for our supporters and its good for our club.

"He has been a marvellous ambassador for the club over the years and it is great that Luc can now represent the club as our number one ticket holder," Mr Hart said.

As a proud and passionate Fremantle supporter, Luc has been involved closely with the club ever since its inception into the AFL. Luc was present at the Fremantle Passenger Terminal in 1994 to witness the presentation of the club's AFL licence by then AFL Chief Executive Ross Oakley and the unveiling of the club's name and colours.

He has been a regular at Fremantle games since returning to Australia in 2001 and in recent years has assisted the club's coaching staff in a variety of roles, particularly working with the club's "big" men.

Luc described his appointment as fantastic saying "I have been a fan and supporter of Fremantle since day one."

"I also felt a bit akin to Fremantle, they had a rough start like my basketball career, which also started in Fremantle, and I've enjoyed watching them grow to the powerful team they are now.

Luc believes that the year ahead will be a great one for the club.

"You learn more from adversity," Luc said.

"The club had a couple of seasons where they have had the talent and potential there and I really see this as the year where that pays dividends.

"I really believe in the coaching staff and the management, the expectations around Fremantle are so much higher than they were three years ago I think people forget how far they have come in three years.

"I always take the opportunity to remind people of that – I am really excited about the year ahead," said Luc.

On what the team needs to play finals football again, "they don't need much except a bit more self belief, a bit more confidence and a bit more time and support from everyone around Freo and their fan base not to question them but to recognise how far they have come.

"I think they have got all the ingredients."

Luc was the first Australian-bred basketballer to play NBA basketball, drafted seventh overall in 1991 by the Minnesota Timberwolves before moving to the Chicago Bulls in 1994. Luc was the starting centre in each of the Bulls three championship seasons in 1996, 1997 and 1998 teaming alongside Michael Jordan, Dennis Rodman and Scott Pippen.

After the "break-up" of the Bulls championship team in 1999 Luc continued his NBA career with the Phoenix Suns and then the New York Knicks before injury brought his career to an end. He played a total of 567 regular season games in the NBA and represented Australia in three Olympic Games in 1988, 1992 and 2000. ☐

Vice-Regal Patron

THE CLUB is honoured that Western Australia's Governor, His Excellency Dr Kenneth Michael, AC, has agreed to become the club's new Patron for the next two years. The announcement was made at the club on Monday 27 February, and the Governor was flanked by the playing squad and staff as President Rick Hart welcomed WA's thirtieth Governor and die hard Fremantle supporter as Patron.

"It is an honour to have His Excellency as our club's Patron," Mr Hart said.

"His Excellency is a not only a very proud and committed Western Australian but he is also a very proud and passionate Fremantle member.

"His Excellency has been a member of the club from the foundation days in 1994 becoming an inaugural Quay Club member.

"His ongoing support has been fantastic and it is a great honour for our club that His Excellency has accepted our invitation to become our Patron," said Mr Hart.

Dr Kenneth Michael AC has a distinguished record of service to the Western Australian Community in many fields, both academic, and as a senior public servant.

He was Chancellor of the University of Western Australia, Chairman of the East Perth Redevelopment Authority, Chairman of the Western Australia Museum and a member of the Economic Regulation Authority. Formerly he served as Commissioner of Main Roads, Public Service Commissioner, Western Australian Independent Gas Pipelines Access Regulator, Acting Western Australian Independent Rail Access Regulator and Chairman of Commissioners for the City, Town and Shire of Albany.

Dr Michael was named Western Australian Citizen of the Year in 2001, and awarded the Centenary of Federation Medal in 2003 for service to the public, engineering and the Greek Community. He was elevated to be a Companion in the Order of Australia in the 2006 Australia Day Honours.

Dr Michael follows on from His Excellency Lieutenant General John Sanderson AC, Governor of Western Australia who was Patron of the Fremantle Football Club for the last three seasons.

As the Wiz lines up for season number twelve, the record books await with one game needed to become only the eighth indigenous player to play 200 AFL games and 14 goals to become the first indigenous player to kick 400 AFL goals.

One thing Jeff Farmer has done over the past eleven seasons is amass a legion of fans that far outweigh his critics. He will play his 200th AFL game in season 2006, something that has only been achieved by seven Indigenous players before him. When he kicks his 14th goal in 2006 he will become the first indigenous player to score 400 goals in the AFL.

He has been a Rising Star nominee, an All Australian player, a WA State of Origin player, played in an International Rules Series in Ireland, and been Melbourne's leading goalkicker three times.

One of the game's premier small forwards, the Wiz is a player that opposition coaches don't consider whether they are a fan or a critic, they simply know they have to cover him with solid defence. Simply, he has to be watched. Give him any room to move and he will make you pay. Yet despite the attention he has only been kept goalless on 25 occasions in those 199 games.

Born in Tambellup, Jeff learned to play his game on the hard grounds of country footy. And you learned to be tough and play hard, the rule was cry and you couldn't play, and that meant that you had to develop an array of skills that have since gone on to help Jeff in his AFL career. But what of the man who has made a remarkable journey from the small south-west town to the heights of the AFL?

Jeff completed his early schooling in Tambellup where "with such a small population, pretty much every child that went to school was related or knew each other very well," says Jeff. "It was close-knit family type of community."

"I went to school in Tambellup until year 5 before our parents decided to make a move to Mandurah.

"It was a tough move after having been so used to having family around all the time and then to move to a new place where we had no friends or family, it took some time to settle in.

"Mum and Dad made the move to give more opportunities for all the family," says Jeff.

Despite the public image that is constructed around his two hours of football each weekend, the real Jeff Farmer is a very different man. A footballer with a strong desire to win but a man who holds family and culture close to his heart.

"My dad is my hero," Jeff says with great pride.

"In fact, my greatest sporting moment was being able to run out and play footy with Dad for Tambellup as a 14 year old.

"My father is highly respected in the Tambellup community and the aboriginal community as well.

"He has lived his life as a very hard worker on the farms shearing and has been a great role model for myself.

"My mother was part of the stolen generation and spent part of her childhood at Sister Kate's in Queen's Park growing up along with her younger brother, but she never let that hold her back.

"With what she has been able to do over her life and have her own family is a great credit to her.

"Mum has been an inspiration to us.

"And as my sister and I have grown up Mum has been able to get back into the workforce and do exceptionally well in the education department.

"They are both great role models for me with the way they go about their work and their life.

"I have tried to emulate the things that they have done in their lives into my own even though at times it does get a little bit hard to be like my parents, but in the end if I can get sort of close enough to the type of people they are then I will be happy.

"They brought us up in a house which had great family values and the sacrifices they made for my sister and I is something I will never forget and always be grateful for.

"We are a very close family, and there was plenty of love and respect growing up and in the end I am just grateful I have been able to have such a great upbringing and parents who love and adore us," Jeff says.

Coming from such a close knit family who share and experience everything together, being in the public spotlight and the inevitable criticism has been hard for Jeff's family.

"My family obviously have to read what is written in the papers and watch TV so obviously they get a bit disappointed with things that are said about me.

"But I have just got to get across to them that that's the way the media work, it's going to be like that and you have just got to let it go, not worry about it.

"My family can't control it, I can't control it – you just have worry about the things in life that you can control."

But as Jeff openly confesses, there are times when the criticism is justified and it is those times when, like that which any good parent has to do, the wayward child is spoken to.

"Always, always – unfortunately," says Jeff with a wry grin.

"I have never, ever, broken the tag of being mummy's little boy, so my mum will always sit me down and give me a talking to when needs be.

"But my parents have been fantastic with how they have raised my sister and I.

"They have always let us go and do the things that we have wanted to do and they have watched us do that at arms length, yet they have always been there to support us when we fall or struggle to cope with things."

The close family unit was disrupted by the 1994 National Draft that found Jeff moving to the other side of the country to fulfil his dream of playing AFL football with the Melbourne Football Club.

The move to Melbourne was difficult for the 17 year old from Tambellup.

"I had to leave my family behind and also had to leave my partner Sharlene who was pregnant at the time," said Jeff.

"It was a very tough period for both me and my family.

“You have to one day get up, leave everyone and go across the other side of the country and live out your dream of playing AFL football, and that was hard.

“But it is part and parcel of being an AFL footballer, you have to be prepared to make sacrifices and for me the sacrifice I had to make was to leave my family.

“As I look back at the way things have worked out over my career it was a move that paid off so I have no regrets even though it was very difficult at the time,” said Jeff.

The move interstate and AFL football was helped significantly by a Melbourne Football Club player group that included the likes of Garry Lyon, David Schwarz, David Nietz, Jim Stynes, Todd Viney and Steven Tingay who in 1994 helped Melbourne finish third in the premiership race after losing in a Preliminary Final at Subiaco.

“The guys were fantastic and helped me adapt and become aware of what it took to be an AFL footballer,” says Jeff.

“They were always approachable, always friendly and they made coming to training a pleasure.

“It was amazing really, here I was rubbing shoulders with guys who I had sat back and watched and admired on TV.

“I was a little scared at first going into an environment I wasn’t used to, so it took a while to get used to that and get comfortable with the other players.

“I don’t think I talked for a couple of years [laughs] and most of the early conversations were only one or two words.

“But as time went on I developed friendships and started to open up with them and then the real Jeff Farmer came out, which a lot of people don’t get to see,” says Jeff.

Jeff’s mum and dad were in Melbourne in the beginning to help their young son find a place and settle in. After a short period of single life he was later joined by partner Sharlene and their new baby daughter, Shontane.

Settling in to Melbourne life took a lot of getting used to – the traffic, the people and the weather. It was a time that Jeff admits led to second thoughts as to whether he had done the right thing.

“Thoughts do go through your head – is this worth it?” says Jeff.

“To be in a place where I didn’t know anyone, playing a game that I could be playing back home, it all built up during those early days but what kept driving me on was my dream.

It wasn’t long before the Wiz got the tap on the shoulder from Melbourne coach Neil Balme to play his first senior game in the opening round of the 1995 season against Geelong at Kardinia Park. Of course, Jeff’s parents made the trip to Melbourne to be there for Jeff’s AFL debut.

“I was nervous right from the time Neil Balme told me and I remember not being able to sleep much during the week, thinking about what it was going to be like,” Jeff recalls.

“We drove down to Geelong with mum and dad and when we got to the ground and had a look around I just couldn’t believe it – here I am at Kardinia Park and about to play my first game.

“The game in the end was disappointing because we lost but with all milestones and other important games like finals, you always remember them.”

In his first season, Jeff played seven games with a return of four goals. But it was the beginning of a career and the fulfilment of a dream. In 1996, 37 goals were delivered in 19 games with a season high five goals against West Coast followed in 1997 by 30 goals in 17 games with a season high six goals against Fremantle in the closing round of the year.

Season 1998 brought Jeff Farmer’s Melbourne up against Peter Bell’s North Melbourne (Kangaroos) in the Preliminary Final. Melbourne had made in through the Qualifying Final and Semi-Final thanks to the Wiz’s six and four goal hauls in each game respectively.

North had won the 1998 pre-season Premiership and finished the home and away season on top of the ladder. They progressed through the Preliminary Final with a 30 point win against Melbourne thanks to a dominant Peter Bell who had 29 possessions in the game.

“I have had a long relationship with Belly,” Jeff says.

“We were both from small towns in the Great Southern and we played against each other in junior footy.

“I had a special interest in how he was going, first with Fremantle and then with the Kangaroos.

"He became a very important player with the Kangaroos and what he has accomplished in his career just says it all."

But 2000 will always be remembered as a great year for Melbourne and Jeff Farmer. With 76 goals for the season, second only to Matthew Lloyd, every season since for the Wiz has been compared to that year.

"It was just one of those years," says Wiz.

"The season was having a great year and it was unfortunate that we ran into Essendon who were phenomenal in 2000.

"The year that I had was thanks solely to the guys up the field – they were the ones that delivered the ball so well to the forwards.

"Unfortunately my form keeps being compared to that year ever since," says Jeff.

The season had some amazing single game performances with a season high nine goals against Collingwood in round 14, eight against Fremantle in round 20, eight against North Melbourne in the Preliminary Final, seven against Hawthorn in round 15 and also against West Coast in round 7.

The round 14 game against Collingwood at the MCG has become legendary at Melbourne. Jeff started the game but was benched early on for, as he describes it, 'playing pretty ordinary'.

"Ben Beams came on to replace me and he was playing some pretty good footy but unfortunately broke his arm just after half time so I came back on.

"I was very disappointed with the way I had started the game – just lucky enough to get a few kicks in the second half.

Those few kicks amounted to eight goals in a half of football.

The 2000 season also gave Jeff the chance to square the ledger with Peter Bell for Melbourne's defeat at the hands of the Kangaroos in 1998 as Melbourne disposed of the Kangaroos by 50 points in the Preliminary Final with Jeff collecting 16 disposals, making four tackles, and slotting home eight goals while Peter Bell had 26 disposals, three tackles, and two goals.

Melbourne finished third during the home and away season and made its way to the Grand Final against Essendon who had completed the regular season with only one loss. They continued their run straight through the finals series and defeated Melbourne by 60 points on the last day in September.

While the build-up during Grand Final week was amazing, Jeff describes the Grand Final itself as the best and worst all in one day.

"To run out in front of 100,000 people at the MCG, you just couldn't hear yourself think and you couldn't hear the players around you because the noise was so deafening," says Jeff.

"It is a long way to come from Tambellup with a population of 500 to play in front of 100,000 people.

"But it was a fantastic two hours that I will never forget despite the result," says Jeff.

New Fremantle Assistant Coach Mark Harvey was in the coaching team at Essendon during that stellar 2000 season and recalls that Essendon's planning paid special attention to the Wiz.

"First it was Neitz and then Farmer," Mark says.

"We held him in very high regard, he is a hard guy to read, he is good overhead and at ground level and is so creative he could turn guys inside out.

"He has so many tricks in his game and just doesn't rely on one thing.

"He also has that aggression and verbal intimidation that is required for guys who want to go somewhere," says Mark.

Jeff was Melbourne's sole All Australian selection in 2000.

After seven seasons, 118 games and 259 goals, it was time for the Wiz to come home and in one of the most complex player trade moves in AFL history it happened. Sydney traded draft selections 13, 17 and 45 to St Kilda for Barry Hall (they subsequently used selection 13 to select Nick Dal Santo), selection 17 was traded to Fremantle for Heath Black and then moved onto Melbourne for Jeff Farmer who then moved it on to Geelong in exchange for Clint Bizzell and who used selection 17 to secure James Kelly in the 2001 National Draft.

The five-club trade may have been complex but the desire for Jeff to return home was strong. The sudden heart attack suffered by his grandmother, whom Jeff had a special bond with, drove home the importance of family and his yearning to return to Western Australia.

But there were reservations.

"Obviously there was going to be expectations and a lot of pressure but I knew that if I could just get myself right and settle in then things would be alright," Jeff says.

Indigenous All-Stars game 2005

"Playing with a new bunch of players, a new coach, and a new game plan turned out to be tougher than I actually thought.

Back home with family is the best part of being back in WA. Together with daughter Shontane and sons Jeff junior and Kobe, Jeff and Sharlene now enjoy their own time together and the easy going family life.

For Jeff, family remains the most important part of life.

"My family are my heart and soul, my family is my life," Jeff says.

"Outside of football I am a very private person and enjoy an easy going lifestyle, I like to get away and relax and do things with the family.

"Spending time with my family is what is important to me, football is our job and that takes up a fair chunk of time and what I try to do is find the right balance with my football commitments and my family.

"I'd like to think I do my share around the house but I think Sharlene may differ with my opinion, but I try to do as much as I can.

"The old footy excuses of aches and pains to get out of housework are not used much but they do get a run from time to time," says Jeff.

But with such a high public profile after twelve years at the top level of Australia's most watched

2000 AFL Grand Final: "a fantastic two hours I will never forget despite the result."

Father and son, after the game

sporting code, how private can private time really be?
 “You will be the only person that limits what you can do,” Jeff says.

“No matter what, if you are in the public eye people recognise you and want to approach you to talk to you, get an autograph or a photo.

“You have got to take it as part and parcel of who you are and what you do.

“There are times when you are out with your family that you just like to have family time to enjoy each others’ company and what you are doing.

“It does get tough at times but in the end it is something you just have to deal with.

“I find people are very understanding and accepting of what you want to do,” says Jeff.

With two young sons, Melbourne and Fremantle will be no doubt vying for father-son selection in a few years time. Both clubs would have the ability to select, but what would dad say to his sons becoming footballers?

“I was lucky enough to have my parents support me and help me along the way with what I wanted to do and I plan to do the exact same thing,” says Jeff.

“I don’t want to force my kids to do something they don’t want to do so whatever they are happy doing I will be there to support them.

“If the boys decide they want to play football then I will give them 100 per cent support along the way at whatever level they play.

“If they decide that they want to do something other than football I will be there to support them just as much,” says Jeff.

Whilst Jeff prefers the quiet life away from the club, he is a tremendous contributor to the community. In 2005 he joined with Troy Cook to be Ambassadors for the Cerebral Palsy Association, a role that both players took very seriously and one which Jeff will do so again in 2006.

“I absolutely love doing charity work,” says Jeff.

“My work at Cerebral Palsy is a great opportunity not only to give something back to the community but more importantly to raise awareness of this unfortunate disability.

“There is no pre-birth test for Cerebral Palsy and there is no cure so the more that we can do to raise awareness by using our profile the better.

“I am blessed with three healthy children so I just want to help in any way I can,” says Jeff.

In fact giving back is something that is very important to the Wiz. Together with Antoni Grover and Des Headland, Jeff is completing a Department of Health certified course to work in Drug and Alcohol rehabilitation and counselling.

“After footy I want to get out and help – give something back – we can’t change the world but we can make a difference and that’s what I want to do.

But with another 81 games under his belt and 127 goals against his name, Jeff now sits one game away from the 200 game milestone and 14 goals short of the 400 goal mark.

“I am proud to be who I am, what I am, and where I came from and I never forget that,” says Jeff.

“To be the eighth indigenous player to reach the 200 games, wow – it’s hard to see it as reality at the moment.

“To achieve a milestone like that is just something I will never forget,” says Jeff.

These milestones mean a tremendous amount to a very proud indigenous Australian. Make no mistake, Jeff Farmer is a proud man.

“Being proud of your heritage or culture is very important to everyone not just indigenous people,” says Jeff.

“It gives you a sense of belonging, a place of comfort.

It is that sense of belonging that shows through in Jeff’s upbringing in an environment of respect and love. When Jeff crosses that white line, with his family in the stands giving their total support, the man named the Wizard is committed to winning, is a fierce competitor and is hungry for success for Fremantle. His focus is acute and will play hard and tough towards ensuring a team victory.

“For two hours you are constantly being challenged either mentally or physically,” Jeff says.

“There are times when you will be challenged by an opposition player in a show of strength, and it is important not to show any weakness or be intimidated.

“Sometimes you have to try and find an edge, but it is a very fine line.

“Over the years I have become smarter, concentrating on what I am out there to do and that is play footy,” Jeff said.

But rest assured if that fine line is crossed, it is not the coach he will worry about. It will be a few stern words from Mum and Dad.☺

New Faces

As the sun rises on a new season so too will it shine on the fledgling careers of Fremantle's newest faces. Marcus Drum, Garrick Ibbotson and Robert Warnock joined the club at the 2005 NAB AFL National Draft and have spent the past few months settling into their lives as professional footballers.

MARCUS DRUM

Fremantle's first selection heralded the return of a familiar name around the port city with outstanding young Murray Bushrangers defender Marcus Drum selected at number 10.

A nephew of former Fremantle Senior Coach Damian Drum he was more than happy to renew the acquaintance of his family name at the club.

"In the lead-up to the draft I didn't think about it much but I suppose during the year I thought 'imagine being drafted to Fremantle'. I wondered what the reception would be like," Marcus said.

"As it got closer and closer and I was being linked towards the club and I started to think I'd really like to come to WA and play with Fremantle and so far it has been sensational."

He said sitting in the Victory Room at Telstra Dome on 26 November 2005 was one of the most anxious times in his life. Tipped to be selected in the prestigious top 10 at the draft Marcus didn't have to wait long until the tension turned to triumph.

"I was stoked when Fremantle called my name. People have said to me that I didn't show too much emotion but I think that has been misinterpreted a bit. I didn't want to jump out of my seat and look like I was being big headed, I gave a little fist pump to say yes I've been drafted and to go to Fremantle was unreal.

"It's probably the proudest thing I have been through, to actually hear your name get called out in a draft is something I'll cherish forever," he said.

It was a moment that had eluded Marcus the previous year after being ruled ineligible for the 2004 National Draft because he missed the age cut-off by just a single day. In typical style he went about finishing his final year of high school and developing his game with the enthusiasm that has accompanied him to Fremantle.

An under 18 All-Australian representative and the Bushrangers best and fairest in 2005 he has adapted well to an AFL pre-season program but admits he wasn't fully prepared for the intensity of training at the highest level.

"You sort of have an idea or picture in your mind of what they're going to be like, I've trained at a couple of clubs during pre-season just for a week and afterwards you question whether you really want to do this," he said.

"I think the toughest part is getting used to the tempo of the training, every session seems to be a step up."

Hailing from country Victoria the move has not only has seen Marcus cross the country but given him a sea change with a new lifestyle on the coast.

"All we've got back home are rivers, dams and channels so to come somewhere with easy access to the beach is great. I've tried surfing once with Joe Krieger (Fremantle Rookie) at Trigg Point but I wasn't any good and fell off each time. I think I should probably just stick to sunbaking and body surfing at Cottesloe," he said with a chuckle.

ROBERT WARNOCK

Draft day was a little different for Fremantle's other interstate recruit, Robert and his family spending the morning huddled around a radio in their home in the coastal Victorian suburb of Brighton.

"I tried to watch the draft on the web but Dad was late getting it all hooked up and we couldn't log on so we ended up listening on the radio. The whole family was around and even my sister called from Edinburgh in Scotland and was listening down the phone," Robert said.

"We were all really happy when my name was called out and I didn't have any worries about moving to WA. It's your dream to play at the highest level so you're happy to go anywhere.

"Everyone has been really welcoming not only when you're at the club but it extends away from footy field as well so that has been a huge help in the transition," he said.

Taken with Fremantle's third selection (number 42 overall) the 205cm ruckman is the only person at the club that can lay any claim to being able to stand eye to eye with Aaron Sandilands!

He is the second Warnock to feature on a 2006 AFL list with his brother Matthew a rookie at the Melbourne Football Club. The family has a strong sporting background with his Mum an accomplished tennis coach and Dad a former player and football administrator. Robert admitting the many days spent at his fathers amateur club played a huge part in his decision to pursue football as a career.

A Vic Metro representative in 2005, Fremantle's recruiting staff were impressed with the 19 year olds strong marking, excellent work at stoppages and a competitive drive. His endurance also a stand out at the NAB AFL Draft Camp with a 13.11 beep test deemed excellent for such a big man.

"I think the number one priority for me is to put weight on because I wouldn't be able to play at AFL level until I was at least 100 kilograms. I have put on about 5 kilos so far in the short time I've been here and have about another 15 to go until I hit my ideal weight."

"The strength and conditioning program at Fremantle is second to none and they have developed a great program for me to achieve a balance of adding weight and maintaining my speed and agility," he said.

GARRICK IBBOTSON

Garrick Ibbotson will start his AFL career on home soil after being taken with Fremantle's second selection, number 26 overall. The East Fremantle product was one of five Sharks selected at the draft and the only one to remain in WA.

"We had an induction camp after the draft and I caught up with the East Freo guys there and they are all loving being in the AFL system and enjoying the club they had gone to no matter what part of the country, but I'm really happy to stay at home, it's just down the road for me," Garrick said.

"The guys have been really welcoming and when I was drafted I think I went to about six barbecues in the first week and got to know everyone really quickly."

The hard running midfielder started his sporting life with a round ball and played soccer until the start of high school. It was only a chance invitation from a friend who asked him to fill in for a week that wet his appetite for Aussie Rules footy.

"From a very young age I played soccer because my primary school in Willetton didn't have a football team. I played soccer right through until year seven and then a friend of mine asked if I'd like to fill in for one game at his junior football club. I really enjoyed it and went back the next week, and the next week and finished off the season and have played ever since."

Like his fellow draftees Garrick has found the transition into an AFL pre-season challenging but rewarding. The chance to play against and alongside senior midfielders Paul Hasleby, Josh Carr and Peter Bell in the intra club game at Subiaco Oval has been the highlight so far for Garrick and the culmination of a tough summer program.

"Belly came and spoke to me after the first intra-club game and mentioned some of the things that I could work on and let me know the things I did well. That was a huge help and it just showed what a great leader he is at the club.

"Matthew Carr is another one of the senior players that I talk with about preparing for games and how he goes about training because he is a huge worker away from the field as well and sets the standard in the gym," he said.

The club's Community Camp in Mandurah earlier this year made Garrick realise how fortunate he was to be given an opportunity to live his dream in the AFL.

"We went to a high school during the camp and Peter Bell asked me to talk to the assembly and when he introduced me he said to everyone I was only 17. I suddenly realised that I was only one or two years older than some of the kids and it was a bit strange to talk about being an AFL footballer to kids not that much younger than me."

While likening his early impressions of life as an AFL footballer to having a full-time job, he quickly says it's the kind of workplace he doesn't mind coming to everyday. ☐

Adventure World Test Drive

Channel 10's
Lachy Reid
(in white) joins in the fun

There's something wrong Steve...

...but we still made a BIG splash!

Not sure this is right..?!

All said and Dunn - he's the winner

Ahead of the club's annual Family Fun Day in March, the players and coaches had the opportunity to 'test drive' the slides and rides at Adventure World exclusively on 17 February with the fun park opened for the players from 9:00am before the entry of the general public at 10:00am. After a strenuous 6-day-a-week, 3 month pre-season training schedule, the players had their first opportunity to just have some fun before the serious stuff began. Of course, the important task of 'testing' the slides was taken very seriously. Ryley Dunn was the winner of the giant slide final with a special mention going to Channel 10's Lachy Reid who joined in the fun but never really challenged in any of the qualifying heats.

Fremantle Ports Adopts the Haze

THE CLUB IS proud to announce that Fremantle Ports will be the 2006 sponsor of the annual Purple Haze Game that helps the seriously ill children of Western Australia through support of the Starlight Children's Foundation.

The Starlight Purple Haze Game will be the round 18 clash against Hawthorn on Sunday 6 August. The support of Fremantle Ports shows the true community spirit of the people and businesses of Fremantle. Over the last three years, our generous members and supporters have raised over $80,000 for the Starlight Children's Foundation that has gone towards the purchase of Starlight Fun Centres at Fremantle and Rockingham Hospitals and witnessed the granting of wishes to seriously ill children.

The proud support of Fremantle Ports is an important partnership with club that reflects the commitment of both organisations to make a positive difference to the community.

"Fremantle Ports is looking forward to being part of this fantastic game this year and is very pleased to be supporting the Starlight Foundation with its mission of brightening the lives of seriously ill and hospitalised children in WA," said Chris Leatt-Hayter, General Manager Strategic and Commercial Development, Fremantle Ports.

"Our plan is to promote the Starlight Purple Haze Game partnership with the Fremantle Football Club, to encourage the shipping community to be part of this unique and special event.

"Fremantle Ports already has an excellent relationship with the Fremantle Football Club and we are very keen to see the friendship develop, with the possibility of other partnering projects in the future."

Always an enormous success, last year saw our generous members and supporters donate nearly $30,000 to the Starlight Children's Foundation and with the support of the Fremantle Ports, the Purple Haze Game is expected to once again produce another fantastic result for the children of Western Australia in 2006.☐

Mascots Race for Diabetes

SOME OF Western Australia's most loved mascots fought out a tough race in the 2006 Medibank Private Australia Day Mascots' Race.

The inaugural race saw a huge crowd gather in Market Square Subiaco to cheer on Freddie Falcon from West Perth Football Club, Glory Gorilla from Perth Glory, Jasper Jelly Baby from the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation, Johnny 'The Doc' Docker from the Fremantle Football Club, Rick the Rock from the West Coast Eagles Football Club and Shredder Shark from the East Fremantle Football Club compete for top honours.

It was an exciting and unique race riddled with controversy as the pressure of winning got to the mascots. Freddie Falcon and Glory Gorilla ended up wrestling at the start of the race, Subiaco Lion had a sleep mid way through the battle and in a bizarre attempt to slow down Fremantle's mascot, Shredder Shark attempted to bite Johnny 'The Doc' Dockers leg.

Race organisers say despite the minor mishaps the 50 metre race was hailed a huge success and the competitiveness between the mascots was described as 'healthy'.

Johnny 'The Doc' Docker pleased the crowd with his aerial displays during the race and was only pipped at the finish line by Jasper Jelly Baby, finishing equal second.

The mascots' race was specially developed to support the Medibank Private's Australia Day Fun Run/Walk; a national initiative that aims to create an awareness of the seriousness of diabetes, as well as highlighting the alarming issue of obesity in Australia.☐

Pav takes baton through Fremantle

THE FIRST Queen's Baton was created for a relay to celebrate the 1958 Commonwealth Games in Cardiff, Wales. Since then the Queen's Baton Relay has become a Games tradition and the baton's journey symbolises the unity and shared ideals of the Commonwealth of Nations, and enables communities beyond the host city to share in the Games celebrations. On 10 February Fremantle star Matthew Pavlich had the honour of running the baton through the streets of Fremantle as part of its journey through WA on its way to the host city, Melbourne. The baton also has the important purpose of carrying Her Majesty's 'Message to the Athletes' from Buckingham Palace to the opening ceremony, having travelled to all 71 nations of the Commonwealth in a year and one day.

Life's Good

Love the Game

THE CLUB'S opening home game of the season against Carlton will be an opportunity to welcome new major sponsor LG Electronics to the Fremantle Football Club with a match day celebration focused on our love for football.

Themed 'Love the Game', the round two match will be a game with a difference as Carlton will be the first interstate side to be greeted at Subiaco by the club's new record membership crowd of proud and passionate purple who will have an enhanced Life's Good attitude for season 2006.

Thanks to LG, round two will host lots of activities for members and supporters at the game to strike a chord as to why we all love the game. One lucky member or supporter spotted by the club's roving camera wearing a new LG guernsey to the game will win an LG LCD TV. Visit the Fremantle Team Store at Fremantle Oval or at the ground and trade-up to the new LG Guernsey by round 2.

With the season now upon us, mark our first home game against Carlton down in the diary as we welcome LG to the Fremantle family and be there to celebrate our love of the game.☐

Cookie Tackles Child Health

IN DECEMBER last year, Professor Fiona Stanley welcomed Fremantle hard man Troy Cook as Patron of the Kulunga Research Network, the leading indigenous child health research organisation in the Western Australia. Kulunga was formed in 1999 and is a collaborative partnership between the WA Aboriginal Community Controlled Health Organisations, representing Aboriginal Medical Services across Western Australia, and the Institute for Child Health Research. The Institute, led by Professor Stanley, is world famous for its research into areas such as birth defects, infectious diseases, cancer and leukaemia.

Home Now Away

A MAJOR CHANGE to the club's playing strips will be implemented in 2006 that will see the club adopt only one standard playing strip.

A survey of Docker readers in the last edition of 2004 resulted in an overwhelming 83.8 per cent majority voting that the club's traditional home playing strip as the most favoured playing jumper, best representing the club, its brand, history and tradition. Just as dominant was the 61.1 per cent of readers not in favour of the away playing strip and that it should be removed from the wardrobe.

What we now call the home playing guernsey will be from 2006, simply, Fremantle's guernsey.

From 2006, the home playing strip will be worn for both home and away matches with the current away playing strip now confined to the history books. The 'clash' playing strip of white jumper with purple anchor that debuted in round 22 of 2004 and worn during the 2006 NAB Cup will remain as the clash strip and be used in away games where the club's playing guernsey clashes with the home team.

The all-purple playing strip adopted for the inaugural Purple Haze Game in 2004 will remain only for the one special Purple Haze game each year.

In the Docker's reader survey of 2004, 53.6 per cent of readers voted that the clash playing strip should remain only for clash games and 53.9 per cent voted that the all-purple strip remain only for the Purple Haze Game.

The traditional home guernsey will now also be worn for away games in 2006.

After an injury interrupted 2005 a strong pre-season sees Andrew Browne ready to make his mark in 2006.

DOB: 14 May 1984 Games: 18
Height: 174cm Weight: 78kg
Drafted: Claremont, 2001 National AFL Draft

Is it a dream come true to be playing AFL at home?

Definitely, my dream was to play AFL footy and if I got to play in WA then that was always going to be a bonus, as it turns out I got drafted to Fremantle so I was very happy.

You've come a long way since your junior days at Swanbourne Football Club...

I played at Swanbourne Junior Football Club from under 9's to under 14's, which was great. In my teens I went to Christ Church Grammar School which is in the Private Schools Association (PSA) and they've got a pretty serious schools footy competition so school games took priority for me and I gave up club footy. It's a really competitive comp and the PSA is renowned for producing pretty good players. I played against players like Daniel Kerr, Ashley Sampi, Mark Seaby and Mark Coughlan who have made their way into the AFL. Christ Church had some success and I had a good time playing school footy. I also had the opportunity to play the odd colts game with Claremont and fortunately for me I got drafted straight out of school in year 12.

Was CFC important in terms of your development?

It definitely was. I knew a lot of the players at the club as there were a lot of guys from school there so it was a pretty easy transition. I still have a strong association with the club and even when I play at Claremont these days, although I'd rather be playing with Fremantle, I still love going back and playing for them because I really love it as a club.

We hear your cousin is Missy Higgins?

Yes, she's not my first cousin but I am definitely related to her but with her living in the Eastern States and me living here – it's not like we are close or anything.

Are you a fan of her music?

I don't mind her music. It's not really my style but it's pretty easy to listen to and obviously there is a connection there so I like to keep an interest.

She has taken the music industry by storm, does musical talent run in the family?

Well, I did play clarinet in year seven but... I was terrible and I haven't played anything since. So, I wouldn't say it runs in the family, no!

You are also studying?

I started off doing a science and commerce degree at UWA and the units that I chose didn't really interest me apart from one psychology unit I did as an elective so I changed my course to study psychology. I'm just part time so I am slowly knocking off the units and I'll probably be at university until I'm about thirty at the rate I am going but I'm really enjoying it.

How do you manage football and study?

At times it can get pretty hectic especially around exam time when you've got so many training sessions and you've got to go straight home and hit the books but most of the time it's pretty good to have something apart from footy that you can concentrate on and enjoy.

How important is having a degree and looking at life after footy?

It's obvious that AFL football doesn't last too long and if you play until you are thirty then you are pretty fortunate, so everyone has got to have something that they can fall back on. My family really encouraged me to work hard at school so I'd have good options when I finished playing footy and if I can come out of my football career with a degree then I will be very happy and I'll be in a pretty lucky position I suppose.

Where do you want your degree to take you?

Well obviously I love sport so sports psychology would be ideal. I think that our sports psychologist has got a really interesting job and although there are not that many jobs going around that's what I'll work towards.

What do you do outside footy to relax?

I've always lived close to the beach so I am always heading down for a swim, I also love to catch up with all my school mates who I am still very close with and I enjoy playing golf – so all the usual things I guess.

Over the summer, there's been a table tennis competition running at the club and we hear you are a pretty handy player?

I'm alright... but Lee Walker knocked me out of the tournament we've had going here. I have got a table at home and I play a fair bit and I like to think I am not too bad.

Word around the club is that you are very competitive?

Yeah I am quite competitive but I think most of the boys are and the knock-out table tennis tournament we've had going over pre-season has been pretty entertaining, there's certainly been lots of dummy spits along the way.

Were you one of the ones who snuck in a few lessons?

No, I have never had a lesson but I know there are a few boys who spent a bit of money on refining their game and I don't know if you want to go to that length for the club tournament, but so be it. I'm quite happy to have a hit at home just for fun.

Who's the toughest opponent at the club?

Well after spending up big on lessons you'd want to hope for some success... so, Paul Hasleby is probably the best player he's pretty hard to beat. Schammer is another matter altogether. He might be asking for a refund on his lessons as he was knocked out before me! Lee Walker is pretty is up there too – I mean, he beat me so he must have had a lesson or two also! Paul and Lee are actually playing off in the grand final so we'll soon know who's got bragging rights.

What is the best part of being an AFL footballer?

The best part is just the fact that you go to work everyday and you get to do what you love with people who you enjoy spending time with. I'm not sure many people could say that about their job.

What are the challenges?

It's probably all the physical things. Most people our age can do what they want and looking after their body isn't really an issue whereas for us it's 12 months of the year. Everything we do has got to be focused on keeping fit, staying in shape and not hurting ourselves. So the biggest challenge is probably just not being able to relax and do the things that most people do, well people my age do anyway, but it's definitely a small price to pay in the scheme of things.

You've had a few frustrating years with injury – how are you feeling leading up to the season?

I've had a very limited pre-season as I'm still getting over some surgery I had after last season but I'm pretty confident that I'll be fit to play some footy by the start of the season. If I can get a full season under my belt then that'll be a positive considering the surgery I had was pretty major, so that's my focus.

Have the club's bolstered fitness and rehabilitation resources assisted your progress?

Definitely – in the years gone by if you've been in rehab for a long period of time it would take you a good couple of months to adjust back to full training because they haven't been able to put in as much time and effort but I feel as if it would only take me a couple of weeks to get back to almost full fitness once I get back into training because they have been so thorough with my rehab and worked me really hard and ticked every box. So, I am confident that once I get back on the track I won't be too far away from a game.

What are your thoughts on the season ahead?

I think for the last few years leading into seasons we've always thought that we'd have a good year and we could turn things around but I think this year more than others we couldn't do anything more to prepare ourselves for the season. We are confident in our ability within the playing group and we understand that if we are going to make a move it's going to be now so we're all really excited and I don't think there would be anyone on the list who doesn't think that we can really make some big steps forward this year. ☺

PURPLE SHORTS

■ Fremantle Captain Peter Bell and wife Lana celebrated the arrival of their first child in September last year. They are the proud parents of a beautiful daughter Poppy who Mum says takes after her Dad... without the five o'clock shadow!

■ 'Tis the season for weddings... Player Welfare Manager Lee Walker and Natalie Pearce married at Wesley College in October and parted on at a reception at the Cottlesloe Life Saving Club.

■ Matthew Carr married long time partner Leith Crannage in November.

■ Fremantle's staff members caught the wedding bug with Emma Zverk (PA to Marketing & Sponsorship) marrying partner Ryan Galloway in March.

■ Financial Controller Graeme Parker popped the question to his partner Alissa Barker.

■ The smell of baby powder filled the air upstairs in the club's administration with Membership Service Co-ordinator Tanya Payne celebrating the arrival of son Malakai while Events Co-ordinator Kellie Black welcomed daughter Emily into the world. It's the first child for both happy mums.

■ An old hand at the baby caper is General Manager of Marketing Steve Rosich. He and wife Alex were delighted with the arrival of daughter Jessica in February, sister to Brianna (6) & Daniel (8).

■ General Manager of Sponsorship Darren Beazley experienced ecstasy and agony in a matter of a week. Visiting wife Traci in hospital to celebrate the arrival of daughter Alex little did Darren know he'd be in on his own hospital bed a week later. He was served up a timely reminder that he belonged behind a desk after tearing his achilles' tendon in a social staff football game on Fremantle Oval. The boot aiding in his recovery has become quite the fashion item over the past couple of months.

■ The clubs recent trip to the UK to play West Coast was an eye opener for many of Fremantle's squad but none more so than Toby Stribling after a visit to the London Eye. Not a fan of heights the midfielder was frozen in the middle of the enclosed capsule that took him & team mates high above the city's skyline.

Fremantle's gruelling pre-season training programme received a welcome change in February when the team ventured to the Peel Region for the AFL Community Camp. Every year the team looks forward to meeting its members and supporters throughout regional WA and this year the club was delighted to be visiting one of the fastest growing communities in Western Australia.

Over the past three years Fremantle has visited Bunbury, Geraldton, and the Pilbara in 2005 and this year's visit to the Peel region gave the players an opportunity to visit a real Fremantle stronghold.

An early morning weights session at Fremantle Oval on the Monday kick started four days of activities for the players before the group travelled by bus to their home base in Mandurah.

On arrival the team broke into smaller groups and headed out to schools in Pinjarra, Harvey, Dwellingup, Boddington and Waroona. Both primary and secondary students enthusiastically welcomed Fremantle's players into their classrooms and had plenty of questions for their football heroes.

In Harvey, Paul Hasleby, Jarrad Schofield, Aaron Sandilands, Robbie Hadrill and Brett Peake formed part of a 13 strong group that dropped in on several schools including the WA College of Agriculture before taking part in the Harvey Community Fair.

After the school visits in Waroona a group of ten players including Byron Schammer, Des Headland and Justin Longmuir lent a hand at the Auskick registration day where kids signed up to take part in the great junior footy competition.

Later that afternoon the majority of playing group travelled south of Bunbury to the community of Dalyellup where a NAB AFL Auskick superclinic was conducted to launch a partnership between Fremantle and the first local junior football club, the Dalyellup Dockers.

Converging on the Ocean Forrest Lutheran College more than one hundred children joined in the footy clinic and were excited to have a kick with the likes of Jeff Farmer, Troy Cook and Luke McPharlin. Senior Coach Chris Connolly and Captain Peter Bell then presented the newly formed Dalyellup Junior Football Club with a brand new set of playing jumpers which feature Fremantle's famous white anchor on the front.

The successful day was rounded out with a Civic Reception where the team was welcomed to the Peel Region by Mayor Paddi Creevey.

Day two saw the team visit primary schools in the Mandurah and conduct clinics for the students before the local children had the opportunity to meet the stars during a Community Day at Rushton Park in the afternoon with more than 600 children participating. Tuesday evening concluded with a full pre-season training session on Rushton Park and the players put on a sharp display for the big crowd.

Day three saw the team host a youth leadership breakfast and visit secondary schools in Mandurah before being an afternoon training session and a well earned rest.

The final day of the camp saw a fantastic turnout for the Auskick superclinic at Secret Harbour Primary School which capped off a huge week for the club. Hailed as the largest Auskick clinic in Australia held during the 2006 camps, more than 1,600 school children from Secret Harbour Primary, Singleton Primary School and Comet Bay Secondary School flocked to the oval in a morning of fun and excitement.

"Throughout the camp we visited over 30 schools which is a huge undertaking, allowing us to meet over 10,000 kids within the region, so it was well worth all the effort," said Community Development Manager David Crute.📍

- ☐ Over 10,000+ children were seen by the team
- ☐ 3 superclinics were conducted by the playing squad
- ☐ 15 footy clinics were held at primary schools
- ☐ 5,000 team posters were distributed
- ☐ Over 200 textas were lost during autograph signings
- ☐ Over 800 purple footballs were kicked around

The players attended:

- ☐ 2 community and corporate breakfasts
- ☐ 1 civic reception
- ☐ 1 community fair in Harvey
- ☐ 2 junior football registration days
- ☐ 1 community BBQ
- ☐ 3 community forums
- ☐ 1 team training session
- ☐ 1 yoga session
- ☐ The Mirvac Fini "Dockers Home"
- ☐ Centro Mandurah for autograph signings

The travelling party consumed during the camp:

- ☐ Over 400 lunch rolls of chicken & salad, beef and salad, tuna and salad which were made by Stage Door Catering
- ☐ 555 Pieces of fruit
- ☐ 370 Muesli bars
- ☐ 185 Muffins
- ☐ Over 400 bottles of Mt Franklin water were drunk
- ☐ Over 400 bottles of Powerade were downed by the boys

25 rooms and two houses at Mandurah Quays Resort were required to accommodate the travelling party:

- ☐ Occupied 70 beds
- ☐ Dirtied 352 towels and 320 sheets
- ☐ Used 100 cakes of soap
- ☐ Broke 2 glasses
- ☐ Killed over 2,000 mosquitos

Club Puts Boot Into Sponsors

THE GRUELLING summer pre-season training program was experienced by senior executives from the club's sponsors as they participated in the inaugural Fremantle Boot Camp.

For three days from 13 February, the lucky participants representing LG, Coca-Cola Amatil (WA), Fosters, Alinta, Network Ten, Integrated and Mazda (WA) swapped shirts and ties for club training gear and set about completing a series punishing sessions in the gym under the watchful eye of the club's strength and conditioning staff. It was then onto Fremantle Oval for skills sessions under the direction of Senior Coach Chris Connolly, Assistant Coaches Michael Broadbridge and Steve Malaxos. The highlight of the training during the summer heat was undoubtedly the pool sessions and the yoga class.

The physical camp training sessions were complemented with development training programs conducted in the board room by new club sponsor Integrated Group.

These programs were presented by Integrated's Helena Pollard and included sessions on goal setting, team building and decision making.

The three day camp ended at Subiaco Oval where participants watched preparations in the Fremantle rooms for the club's intra-club match on 15 February.

While the camp was a huge success, LG State Manager Craig May said "we used muscles we never thought we had and I know where they are now."

"The camp was not only great fun but we also had the opportunity to mix with other club sponsors and share ideas in a unique initiative by the club," Mr May said.

With the inaugural Boot Camp such a huge success, the camp will now become a regular part of the sponsor calendar in coming years.📺

Real Taste and Zero Sugar

COCA-COLA OFFICIALLY launched their newest product, Coca-Cola Zero on 26 January with a massive national campaign representing the biggest product launch since Diet Coke 22 years ago.

Coca-Cola Zero's advertising campaign focuses around "the zero movement" that embraces a life free of limits and consequence.

The club joined forces with sponsor Coca-Cola to help launch Zero when the club recently visited the Peel Region for the 2006 AFL Community Camp. While visiting the Mandurah Centro Shopping Centre for an autograph signing appearance, players Aaron Sandilands, Troy Cook, Justin Longmuir, Byron Schammer, Brett Peake and Michael Warren took part in the Coca-Cola Zero launch with over 250 free cans of Coca-Cola Zero given out to fans eagerly waiting for autographs.

Members and supporters at all

Fremantle home games this year will have the chance to win some great prizes as part of Coca-Cola Zero's on-ground promotion by simply purchasing a Coca-Cola Zero at the game. More details will be available on the club's web site, www.fremantlefc.com.au.📺

Talented Trio For Breakfast

THE WAIT IS finally over with the launch recently of 92.9's New Breakfast Show with Em, Wippa & Ollie.

The talented trio hail from various backgrounds with Emelia Rusciano's journey beginning when she auditioned for the 2004 series of Australian Idol. After leaving Idol in ninth place, Em began her radio career in Adelaide and moved to Perth last year.

Wippa (Michael Wipfli) on the other hand had already been exposed to the nature of radio, having worked on the Hamish and Andy show and Austereo's national "Late Date Show" in Melbourne, before moving to Perth this year.

Born in England but now firmly a Perth boy, Ollie Raison has been performing stand up comedy throughout the country, with a refreshingly unique sense of humour for the Perth listeners.

Assistant Coach Michael Broadbridge will join Em, Wippa and Ollie every week to talk about everything footy while Justin Longmuir will spice it up every fortnight to play some of his favourite tunes and take some listener calls during the season.

So tune into 92.9 each week and keep your ears tuned for JLo and Broady.📺

Fun Day at Adventure World

Nearly 2,000 members enjoyed a fantastic day at the annual Family Fun Day held this year at Adventure World on 19 March. Perth's premier amusement park, featuring something for the entire family, opened exclusively for members from 8am before opening to the general public at 10am. Members had the opportunity to take out James Walker on the bumper boats, race Andrew Browne on the waterslides or battle Peter Bell on the racetrack. With all the players turning out for the Family Fun Day it was a great opportunity to meet their favourite players and grab an autograph in the autograph tent. With sensational weather it was a perfect day for a watery adventure and lots of fun at Adventure World.

WELCOME ALL members to season 2006. The club's Membership staff have been busy over the off-season as membership renewals and new member applications have flooded the club well ahead of 2005. The club reached its fourth consecutive record membership mid-March as the loyalty and passion of the club's support continues to grow in 2006.

All members have received their 2006 membership cards but remember, it is never too late to join so members are asked to encourage any supporters to sign up as members in 2006.

MEMBERSHIP NEWS

The club's website now has an improved Members section where you can get all the latest news and information on membership events and happenings around the club.

TICKET PURCHASES

Tickets for games may be purchased from Ticketmaster outlets by calling 1300 135 915 and 1300 136 122 or at www.ticketmaster.com.au. A Ticketmaster outlet will be available in the Team Store from April. Tickets go on sale two weeks prior to each home game.

CARLTON MID DERBIES (ROUND 3 & 20)

During each AFL Home and Away season, Fremantle will play the West Coast Eagles on two occasions at Subiaco Oval. Round 6 will be a home game for Fremantle while Round 21 will be a home game for West Coast. Fremantle members retain their reserved seating and all their membership rights at the Round 6 Fremantle home game so therefore do not need to purchase tickets to this match. However, for the Round 21 away game, West Coast Eagles members will retain their reserved seating and membership rights for that game. Fremantle members gain priority access to purchase seating released for sale, with tickets placed on sale to Fremantle members first before being released to the general public. Notification of sale dates will be posted on the club's website.

2005 AFL FINALS SERIES

Members who hold a Full Club Membership will get priority access to purchase a ticket for all 2006 AFL Finals Series in which Fremantle participate. Should Fremantle participate in an AFL Grand Final it cannot be guaranteed that all members will receive a ticket due to the limited number of tickets that have historically been allocated to the participating clubs. The club will ensure the maximum number of ticket opportunities for members in this case.

MATCH DAY ENQUIRIES

The "Fremantle FC Membership Service Centre" is located at Gate 24 at Subiaco Oval. The Service Centre provides assistance to members with general enquiries and problems that arise before the game including lost or forgotten membership cards.

MATCH DAY PARKING AND TRANSPORT

Parking around Subiaco Oval is limited due to residential parking schemes. If you wish to drive, parking is available at Mueller Park, Perth Modern School or the Colonnade Car Park.

Members are encouraged to take advantage of Transperth's special offer to members of Fremantle. Comprehensive public transport details are published in The West Australian newspaper prior to each home game.

LOST MEMBERSHIP CARDS

Lost membership cards can be replaced upon completion of a Statutory Declaration form that can be obtained by calling the club on (08) 9433 7111. A $10 fee is charged for a replacement card however if the statutory declaration form is returned with a police report (in the case of theft) the replacement fee will be waived and the barcode on your lost card cancelled.

SMOKING AT SUBIACO OVAL

Members are advised that there are changes to the gates that will be open on a match day for patrons to exit during the match. These are Gates 8, 9, 10, 16, 19, 24, and 26 PLUS Gate 13 or 14 along the ANZ Stand. Any gate along Subiaco Road between Gates 2 and 6 will not be open.

MEMBERSHIP STICKERS

We would like to apologise for the quality of our membership sticker this year. Unfortunately the quality of the sticker was not as promised by the manufacturer and as a result are prone to fading when placed in direct sunlight. The club has replaced these stickers and we are pleased to enclose your new membership sticker with this edition of Docker. Additional stickers are available from the club or from the Membership Services Centre, Gate 24 at Subiaco Oval on Game Day simply by presenting your 2006 Membership Card.

BILL WALKER ROOM

In a new initiative for 2006, the club will hold pre-match activities in the Bill Walker Room. In the lead up to home games, the Bill Walker Room host will be interviewing non-playing players and special guests in a game preview and what's happening around the club. Members are invited to take advantage of this opportunity and mix with other members and supporters prior to every home game.

Important Notice ALCOHOL CONSUMPTION AT SUBIACO OVAL

OVER THE past two seasons the Police at Subiaco Oval have undergone a review of the trading conditions of the Subiaco Oval Liquor License. Stemming from increased club memberships and game attendances there is the inevitable few that do not respect the neighbouring properties and become untidy and irresponsible whilst consuming alcohol, mostly prior to entering Subiaco Oval or leaving the stadium. As a result restrictions have been imposed on the Liquor License in the areas that have caused some concern to Police.

The concerns raised by the Police are:

- Alcohol being smuggled into Subiaco Oval
- Patrons entering licensed premises from other neighbouring premises possibly intoxicated
- Patrons urinating in neighbouring properties

- Patrons removing beverages from the Stadium and street drinking

The following details some of the specific changes to the Subiaco Oval liquor license conditions:

Bill Walker Room and Doig Room when used as a Members Bar

1. These rooms will be available one hour prior to the main match
2. Alcohol service limits will apply. A maximum of 4 alcoholic beverages may be purchased at any time, comprising of no more than 2 wines or 2 spirits
3. Increased security presence in these rooms
4. No patrons will be permitted to leave these rooms with any alcohol
5. The bar will close one hour post match with the rooms to be vacated by patrons within 30 minutes thereafter

PUBLIC RETAIL BARS

1. Alcohol service limits will apply. A maximum of 4 alcoholic beverages may be purchased at any time, comprising of no more than 2 wines or 2 spirits
2. No cola mixed full strength spirits will be available. These will be replaced by mid strength spirit and cola products. Some alternative full strength spirits will be available. All beer will be mid strength as in past seasons
3. Bars will open only one hour prior to the main game, but no earlier than 11:00am. Bars will strictly close by 10 minutes into the last term. Some bars will close 5 minutes into third quarter
4. Heightened Security and Police presence will be evident in all retail bar areas, seating stands and especially on entry and exit points to the stadium. Bags will be searched on entry

5. No Alcohol is to be brought onto licensed premises and no alcohol to be taken off licensed premises. Infringements will be issued for these offences
6. A maximum number of 30 Public Bars are available
7. No anti-social behaviour or intoxication will be tolerated. Patrons will be evicted and infringements will be issued by police. Membership bans could also be imposed
8. No Alcohol is to be consumed by juveniles on licensed premises. Infringements will be issued to persons supplying juveniles with alcohol
9. Designated smoking areas will be established outside the stadium in secured areas
10. Pass outs will be restricted during the match to discourage patrons visiting nearby licensed premises during the breaks.

Hi kids,

Welcome back to Wiz Kidz for 2006, a special hello to all of our new members who have come on board this season. So, hands up who has missed footy? With the pre-season training and footy now over, the countdown is finally on for season 2006. It's going to be an exciting year ahead for Fremantle and all the players really look forward to the support of all our junior members.

You are an important part of our club and I look forward to seeing you all at the games and at training during the year. Our 'People's Night' training at Fremantle Oval is back for 2006 but this year you'll have to let your parents know that it's now on Monday nights. Nothing else has changed, just the day and it's still the best chance to come and meet all players. So put on your purple gear and come down to Fremantle Oval on Mondays and get an autograph or photo of your favourite player.

The team has had a busy pre-season, training hard and also welcoming plenty of new faces to the club, including our new players Marcus Drum, Garrick Ibbotson and Robert Warnock as well as Essendon champion Mark Harvey who has joined us as an Assistant Coach. So check out their profiles at the club's web site www.fremantlefc.com.au to find out more about our new recruits.

I hope you enjoy the first edition of Wiz Kidz for this year, good luck with the competitions and stay tuned for more fun next time. If you aren't a junior member yet, get your parents to contact the club on 9422 7111 and our membership team can give you all the details to become a member in 2006.

Super Snacks to Take to the Footy

To become a champion footy player it is important to eat a healthy, balanced diet. On game days the Fremantle players eat foods that are high in carbohydrates, and drink plenty of fluids to give us speed, skill and stamina.

Like us, you also need to eat foods that give you energy to cheer for your heroes! We all know that some foods sold at the game are not good choices for future footy stars because they are high in fat i.e. hot chips.

If you want to eat like your heroes, and get through the game with lots of energy try taking some of these foods to the game to snack on.

FOOD FOR THE FOOTY

- ☐ Fruit – fresh or dried
- ☐ Fruit Muffins
- ☐ Ham/chicken and salad sandwich
- ☐ Hot Cross Buns
- ☐ Banana/honey/jam sandwich
- ☐ Muesli bars
- ☐ Low fat yoghurt or light fruche
- ☐ Air popped popcorn

Also, remember to drink lots of fluids (especially on hot days). The best drinks are water, juice or flavoured milk.

Sponsorship From The Hart

THE COMMUNITY Development Programme welcomes The Rick Hart Group as the major sponsor of the Freo Long Bomb and the Freo Kwik Kick competitions in 2006.

The hugely popular and easy to run Freo Long Bomb and the Freo Kwik Kick competitions are run by primary and secondary schools as part of each schools physical education programmes during the year.

The Freo Long Bomb competition is open to primary and secondary schools and involves students trying to kick a football as far as they can from a marked kick-off line with distances being recorded with the aim of competing against other schools in a knock-out competition towards the Grand Final to be conducted at Subiaco Oval prior to the round 16 game against Melbourne.

The Freo Kwik Kick, the sister programme of the Freo Long Bomb, involves students kicking in pairs over a short distance to see how many successful kicks the pair can complete in three minutes. Once again the prize is a Grand Final berth prior to the round 16 game against Melbourne.

The support of club sponsor The Rick Hart Group to these programmes provides schools with ten footballs, a certificate of participation, a team poster, and the chance to win fantastic prizes including game tickets.

Both programmes are aimed at encouraging enjoyable competition while promoting school spirit and participation in sport and we once again thank the Rick Hart for their continued commitment to the club's Community Development Programme.

Experience the Active Factor

THE POPULAR AFL Experience Clinics will be run during terms two and three of the 2006 school year and will once again be proudly supported by Coca-Cola Active Factor.

The clinics run by Fremantle players will give both boys and girls the opportunity to learn about nutrition and fitness as well as some basic football skills and fun activities. In 2005, over 2,500 children participated in the clinics and proved to be a popular part of the club's Community Development Programme.

Coca-Cola's Active Factor supports Australian children in leading active and healthy lives and encourages participation in physical activity by providing avenues for skill development, education about ways to get active and advice on leading a life that balances activity with a healthy diet.

Active Factor supports organisations like the Fremantle Football Club that encourage children aged between 5 and 12 years to adopt active lifestyles. Active Factor's involvement with the AFL Experience Clinics is one of the ways in which Coca-Cola contribute to the educating of kids about the importance of fitness and good nutritional habits.

Coca-Cola Amatil (WA) General Manager James Lane said that "Coca-Cola has been associated with the Fremantle Football Club for a long time and the Community Development Programmes that the club runs and in particular, the AFL Experience Clinics, are a perfect fit for the values that Active Factor represents."

"We are looking forward to being able to again make a positive contribution to the health and wellbeing of a number of WA children," Mr Lane said.

The 2006 AFL Experience Clinics will run from May through to September in over 40 schools in Western Australian.

Motor Skills Kicks Off in '06

THE POPULAR Motor Skills Programme kicked off for season 2006 with a recent visit to South Lake Pre-Primary School. The children were put through their paces by Fremantle players Michael Warren and Joe Krieger. A great afternoon was had by all and some important skills of balance and hand eye coordination were passed on to the enthusiastic group and their teachers.

Visiting more than 40 pre-primary centres this year, the Johnny 'The Doc' Docker Motor Skills Programme will involve 2,000 children across WA and will be led by Johnny 'The Doc' Docker himself, who assists the players in the implementation of the valuable sessions.

Coles Cares for CDP

THE CLUB is pleased to announce that Coles Cares will become a proud sponsor of three of the Community Development Programme (CDP) initiatives, School of the Week, AFL Experience Clinics and the Johnny "The Doc" Docker Motor Skills Programmes in 2006.

The popular School of the Week Programme gives one lucky school every Monday, at the popular Monday People's Night team training, the opportunity for a close up look at their AFL heroes and behind the scenes access at the club. In 2005 more than 3,000 children enjoyed the thrill of this exclusive opportunity at the club's Fremantle headquarters.

The AFL Experience Clinics provide students with an exclusive behind the scenes insight into an AFL club with participants taking part in a football clinic run by Fremantle players, receiving nutritional and healthy living information, as well as a guided tour of the club led by a player and taking home lots of giveaways.

Importantly, Coles Cares provides all young participants in the Johnny "The Doc" Docker Motor Skills Programme with healthy breakfast packs. The Motor Skills Programme promotes basic motor, communication and social skills to pre-primary students and as a sponsor of this programme, Coles Cares is committed to ensuring that young children are given the best opportunities through learning.

It is with the commitment of Coles Cares that the club is able to promote healthy lifestyles for children by encouraging exercise and healthy, nutritional habits amongst our future generations.

Full details on any of the Community Development Programmes at www.fremantlefc.com.au

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

Fremantle Football Club is involved in a range of community based partnerships which deliver long term benefits to the community. The programmes promote fun, fitness and the benefits of physical activity and have reached more than 20,000 children across the state.

SCHOOL OF THE WEEK

Monday night is 'People's Night' at Fremantle Oval and every week we invite a school to be a part of an afternoon of fun not to be forgotten, including a special footy clinic, watching a special highlights package in the players lecture theatre, the opportunity to watch the senior squad train and have a photo with a Fremantle player.

AFL EXPERIENCE CLINICS

The Fremantle Football Club invites schools to experience the magic of an AFL club by participating in the AFL Experience Clinics. They provide students with a unique a personal understanding of how a football club operates behind the scenes and is also designed to teach students about nutrition and fitness as well as basic football skills to enjoy our fantastic sport. This programme runs during terms 2 and 3.

JOHNNY 'THE DOC' DOCKER - MOTOR SKILLS PROGRAMME

In conjunction with Notre Dame University a unique programme has been designed to introduce simple play activities promoting basic motor, communication and social skills to pre-primary students. The programme involves Fremantle players and the club mascot delivering young learners an opportunity to learn in an enjoyable environment.

FREO LONG BOMB

The Freo Long Bomb competition is on again in 2006 in a big kick for fun in WA schools. Open to both primary and secondary schools this year, it involves students trying to kick a football as far as they can in a fun atmosphere aimed at encouraging enjoyable competition while promoting school spirit and participation in sport.

FREO KWIK KICK

The Freo Kwik Kick, run in conjunction with Freo Long Bomb, involves students kicking in pairs over a short distance to see how many successful kicks they can complete in 3 minutes. The competition is run by schools and district winners will compete in a Grand Final kick-off at Subiaco Oval later in the year.

TEAM BANNER COMPETITION

Primary school students are asked to design a team banner to inspire the team as they run out onto Subiaco Oval for the game against Melbourne in July. In designing their banner, students should consider local Fremantle landmarks or icons, the history of the club it will be used in the AFL Heritage Round which celebrates the history of the AFL and its clubs.

A kick start for Murchison Region

A new partnership between the Fremantle Football Club and the Murchison region will see 100 keen youngsters start their football careers this season due to Fremantle's assistance in establishing a local competition with teams from Mt Magnet, Wiluna, Meekatharra and Karalundi.
